

Centuri Joins the Only HR-Specific Conference for Construction Professionals

Centuri, a NYSE-listed infrastructure services company that maintains and builds the electric and natural gas systems that power millions of homes and businesses across the US and Canada, is pleased to have two HR leaders participating in this year's LEAP HR: Construction. Representing the company on two distinct tracks are SVP and Head of HR, Catherine Berry, and Senior Director of HR Rishona Harris.

Catherine is a tenured executive and Senior Human Resources leader with nearly 30 years of experience spanning public and private companies. She joined Centuri in April 2023 following a more than 22 year career at Intel Corporation. Her expertise spans Human Resources and talent life cycle including talent management, learning and development, diversity and inclusion, organizational design, business strategy, and operational excellence. Rishona Harris is an Army veteran and seasoned operations and HR leader, with experience at Fortune 500 companies. She joined Centuri operating company NPL in 2012, and today leads recruiting, learning and development, training and the company's intentional DEI efforts nationally.

"I'm so excited to have Catherine join us at LEAP HR: Construction this December", said Program Director Lana Dale. "I love her enthusiasm. Together, we are committed to driving innovation and shaping the future of talent in construction."

"We are at a unique time in our industry where demand for our offerings is skyrocketing. Delivering for our many stakeholders, including our customers, requires innovative approaches to workforce planning and readiness. At the heart of this is ensuring we are thoughtfully mapping our talent, building a diverse pipeline that reflects the communities where we live and work, and helping our teams reach their fullest potential," said Berry.

LEAP HR: Construction is the only platform that brings together Human Resources professionals in the Construction industry to share insights, best practices, and solutions to the industry's most pressing challenges. By joining forces with LEAP HR: Construction, Centuri aims to showcase how they have mapped out their current pipelines and are tapping into hidden workforces while diversifying their current workforce
